

Junior researcher

Social inclusion, education and equal opportunities

PPMI is a leading European research and policy analysis centre. We help public sector and civil society leaders from around the world, presenting evidence in a way that is simple, clear and ready to use. We are a trusted partner, providing actionable insights, developing shared understanding among key stakeholders, and enabling policy implementation to bring about positive and lasting change.

PPMI connects ideas and experiences to build a world where policies work.

COME PREPARED

A successful candidate will have:

- ▼ bachelor's degree in social sciences or humanities;
- ▼ interest in public policy and public sector interventions in the EU and EU Member States;
- ▼ analytical skills and the ability to apply them creatively;
- ▼ attention to detail and problem-solving skills;
- ▼ excellent command of written and spoken English matched with good communication skills;
- ▼ ability to work well both independently and in a team.

The following will be considered an asset:

- ▼ enthusiasm to engage in a professional, yet friendly dialogue with unknown people;
- ▼ willingness to learn and grow matched with a pro-active attitude;
- ▼ experience/interest in communication technologies: management of websites, newsletters, social networks;
- ▼ interest in education and/or social inclusion policies.

TAKE ON CHALLENGES

You should be ready to take part in a wide range of research and coordinating activities including but not limited to:

- ▼ supporting the coordination of a large network of European academics working in the field of education and social inclusion;
- ▼ ensuring smooth daily communication with network members and other relevant parties;
- ▼ carrying out data analysis and describing the results;
- ▼ co-writing research proposals and reports;
- ▼ supporting the preparation and dissemination of informational materials;
- ▼ supporting project team in administrative tasks related to project execution.

GROW WITH US

You should expect a fast-paced and dynamic environment, where being able to work in a team and independently are equally important. In return, we offer:

- ▼ the opportunity to work with and learn from renowned experts and established researchers;
- ▼ training and coaching on research methods and public policy management/organisational trends;
- ▼ multicultural working environment and an ergonomic office space in the city centre;
- ▼ competitive salary (starting from 1100 euros, in gross terms) and career prospects.

If you see yourself in this position, send us your CV (careers@ppmi.it) and include a subject line: Junior Researcher: Social inclusion, education and equality by November 26, 2019.