

Senior Researcher

Public Health

PPMI is a leading European research and policy analysis centre. We help public sector and civil society leaders from around the world, presenting evidence in a way that is simple, clear and ready to use. We provide actionable insights, develop shared understanding among stakeholders, and enable policy implementation to bring about positive and lasting change.

COME PREPARED

A successful candidate will have:

- Research experience and a strong interest in public health (background in health economics would be a strong advantage),
- Advanced knowledge of data collection and analysis methods in social sciences,
- Experience in writing proposals for tenders, managing research and evaluation projects as well as liaising with clients,
- At least five years of overall work experience,
- Full English proficiency and excellent writing skills.

BE READY TO CHALLENGE YOURSELF

You should be ready to participate in the following research and organisational activities:

- PPMI is already strongly established in providing research-based advice across different policy areas and conducting EU-wide consultation activities. We are currently expanding our in-house team and entering new research areas (e.g., impact of technological innovations in healthcare),
- You will join a successful international team and take over coordination of work packages based on quantitative and qualitative research methods, e.g., overseeing the work of in-house researchers in EU-wide projects,
- You will be working with leading experts and research organisations across the globe on a daily basis, so you must be on an equal footing and lead by example to get the best possible results,
- You will be presenting findings to clients, colleagues and the public at large; you will also be writing research reports and peer-reviewing reports developed by other team members,
- You will work with and be supported by PPMI's team experienced in various public policy areas (e.g., public health, research and innovation, education, among others).

GROW WITH US

You should expect a fast-paced and dynamic environment, where the ability to work in teams and individually go hand-in-hand. We offer:

- Rewards for your performance: at PPMI, we offer a competitive salary (starting from 1400 euros net, 2300 gross) and eligibility for performance-based bonuses semi-annually,
- Control over your own learning: we allocate a training budget equivalent to 10% of annual net salary for senior staff members,
- Flexi-time: we operate with no fixed office hours, so you can work when you feel most productive,
- Multicultural working environment / remote work arrangements.

If you see yourself in this position, send your CV and a motivation letter to careers@ppmi.it by 14 May 2021 with a subject Senior Researcher in Public Health.